

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD:

14 February 1955

SUBJECT: Deviations From Specifications for Portable Desk
Trays

1. Mr. Deinlien of the Acme Visible Systems, Inc. called regarding two questions.

a. Should the specified four inch depth of the box include the thickness of the rubber strips or could the thickness of the strips be in excess of the four inches?

b. Because of the very limited tolerance between the specified inside and outside measurements of the box, they would have difficulty with the latch. Therefore, in accordance with our previous discussions would it be permissible to offset the latch so that the overall length could exceed  $15\frac{1}{4}$  inches without interference with the sides of the file drawer.

2. I called [ ] to determine if the changes would be acceptable to Procurement. [ ] checked and then advised me that the changes proposed would be acceptable if I would submit the attached statement.
